Tools: scissors, scale, beading needle and long-nose pliers

Size: approx. 18.5 cm/7.3 in (including findings)

The Spiral Herringbone ropes woven with 15/0 Silverlined Round Rocailles look like metal chains. Bicolor makes the bracelet more glittering and gorgeous. The knot at the center is the point.

Tip: Keep the tension consistent. Be careful not to break the beads strung over and over.

Directions

- Cut the golden C-Lon beading thread (hereinafter called "thread") into 1.5 m/5 ft and thread the needle. String a stopper bead about 20 cm/8 in from an end. Weave 200 rows (20 cm/8 in) with 15/0 Round Rocailles (gold) to shape a tube as shown. When the thread does not get long enough, cut another thread into 1.5 m/59 in. Tie a knot at both ends of the short and new threads to continue weaving. While the thread at the beginning is left, end all the other threads.

* The thread color is shown in red for clarification.

* The stopper bead is omitted.

End the thread.

Weave the ends together as shown.

Note: All rights reserved.

Weave 200 rows (approx. 20 cm/8 in).

② Remove the stopper bead and join a double ring to connect both ends as shown.

③ Weave the same as ① to ② with the gray thread and the 15/0 silvery Round Rocailles.

④ Tie a knot with the ropes made in ② and ③. Prepare another thread (in 60 cm/24 in and either color) and sew some parts as shown to keep the knot firm. Join the magnetic clasp to each end with an oval jump ring to complete the bracelet.

Pass the golden loop through under the silvery one and pull.

Bring the silvery loop over the golden one and pull.

Sew some parts to keep the knot firm.

* It may be hard to insert the needle into the beads strung over and over. Be careful not to break the beads.
